With the goal of promoting a global environment and education, as well as providing support for greater numbers of incoming foreign students and visiting researchers, Chuo University has established an on-campus international complex—the Global Gateway Chuo and the International Residence Chuo. The Global Gateway Chuo is equipped with facilities that enable global education and research, and the International Residence Chuo provides a mixture of educational and living facilities on campus. This new living and research complex allows Chuo University's home students and visiting foreign students to learn about each other's cultures and customs, and thereby provides them with opportunities for developing expansive and cosmopolitan perspectives.

More than 130 Years of Global Initiatives

Chuo University was first established in 1885 as the English Law School. Today it is one of the largest and most prestigious private universities in Japan and is particularly renowned for accomplishments in law, policy studies, and science and engineering. In addition, many of Chuo's Business and Economics graduates have gone on to become top-level executives at major corporations in Japan and abroad. During our 135-year history, Chuo has seen steady growth from a specialized School of Law, which continues to produce many of Japan's judges, prosecutors, and lawyers, to a comprehensive university with eight faculties, seven graduate schools, and two professional graduate schools, in addition to nine research institutes, four affiliated high schools, and two affiliated junior high schools. Chuo was founded on the spirit of "Fostering the Ability to Apply Knowledge to Practice", and we aspire to provide practical education that helps young people meet the demands of today's global society.
